BY AUTHORITY.

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, a Treaty of Friendship, Commerce, and Navigation between the United States of America and the Republic of Peru, was concluded and signed at Lima on the twenty sixth day of July, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-one, which Treaty being in the English and Spanish languages, is word for word, as follows:

The United States of America and the Republic of Peru, being equally animated with the desire to render firm and permanent the peace and friendship which have always so happily subsisted between them, and to place their commercial relations upon the most liberal basis, have resolved to fix clear and precise rules which shall in future be religiously observed between the two nations, by means of a treaty of friendship, commerce, and navigation.

To attain this desirable object the President of the United States of America has conferred full powers on John Randolph Clay, the accredited chargé d'affaires of the said States, to the government of Peru, and the President of the Republic of Peru has conferred like full powers on Brigadier General Don Juan Crisostomo Torrico, Minister of War and the Marine, Minister of Foreign Affairs, ad interim, &c., who, after exchanging their respective full powers, found to be in good and due form, have agreed upon and concluded the following articles:

ARTICLE I.

There shall be perfect and perpetual peace and friendship between the United States of America and the Republic of Peru, and between their respective territories, people, and citizens, without distinction of persons or places.

ARTICLE II.

The United States of America, and the Republic of Peru, mutually agree that there shall be reciprocal liberty of commerce and navigation between their respective territories and citizens; the citizens of either republic may frequent with their vessels all the coasts, ports and places of the other, wherever foreign commerce is permitted, and reside in all parts of the territories of either, and occupy dwellings and warehouses, and every thing belonging thereto shall be respected, and shall not be subjected to any arbitrary visits or search.

The said citizens shall have full liberty to trade in all parts of the territories of either, according to the rules established by the respective regulations of commerce, in all kinds of goods, merchandise, manufactures and produce not prohibited to all, and to open retail stores and shops, under the same municipal and police regulations as native citizens, and they shall not in this respect be liable to any other or higher taxes or imposts than those which are or may be paid by native citizens. No examination or inspection of their books, papers, or accounts shall be made without the legal order of a competent tribunal or judge.

The citizens of either country shall also have the unrestrained right to travel in any part of the possessions of the other, and shall in all cases enjoy the same security and protection as the natives of the country wherein they reside, on condition of their submitting to the laws and ordinances there prevailing; they shall not be called upon for any forced loan or occasional contribution, nor shall they be liable to any embargo, or to be detained with their vessels, cargoes, merchandise, goods, or effects, for any military expedition, or for any public purpose whatsoever, without being allowed therefor a full and sufficient indemnification, which shall in all cases be agreed upon and paid in advance.

ARTICLE III.

The two high contracting parties hereby bind and engage themselves not to grant any favor, privilege, or immunity whatever, in matters of commerce and navigation, to other nations, which shall not be also immediately extended to the citizens of the other contracting party, who shall enjoy the same, gratuitously, if the concession shall have been gratuitous, or on giving a compensation as nearly as possible of proportionate value and effect, [illegible]

ARTICLE IV.

[illegible]

ARTICLE V.

[illegible]

ARTICLE VIII.

[illegible]

ARTICLE IX.

It is hereby declared that the stipulations of the present treaty are not to be understood as applying to the navigation and coasting trade between one port and another situated in the territory of either of the contracting parties; the regulation of such navigation and trade being reserved, respectively, by the parties, according to their own separate laws.

Vessels of either country shall, however, be permitted to discharge part of their cargoes at one port open to foreign commerce in the territories of either of the high contracting parties, and to proceed with the remainder of their cargo to any other port or ports of the same territory open to foreign commerce, without paying other or higher tonnage dues or port charges in such cases than would be paid by national vessels in like circumstances; and they shall be permitted to load in like manner at different ports in the same voyage outwards.

ARTICLE X.

The Republic of Peru, desiring to increase the intercourse along its coasts, by means of steam navigation, engages to accord to any citizen or citizens of the United States who may establish a line of steam vessels to navigate regularly between the different ports or bays within the Peruvian territories, the same privileges of taking in and landing freight, entering the bye ports for the purpose of receiving and landing passengers and their baggage, specie, and bullion, carrying the public mails, establishing depots for coal, erecting the necessary machine and workshops for repairing and refitting the steam-vessels, and all other favors enjoyed by any other association or company whatsoever. It is further more understood between the two high contracting parties, that the steam vessels of either shall not be subject in the ports of the other party to any duties of tonnage, harbor, lighthouse, anchorage, or other similar duties whatsoever, than those that are or may be paid by any other association or company.

ARTICLE XI.

For the better understanding of the preceding articles, and having in consideration the actual state of the commercial marine of Peru, it is stipulated and agreed, that every vessel belonging exclusively to a citizen or citizens of the said republic, and of which the captain is also a citizen of the same, [illegible]

ARTICLE XII.

The whale-ships of the United States shall have access to the port of Tumbez, as well as to the ports of entry in Peru, and may sail from one port to another for the purpose of refreshment and refitting; and they shall be permitted to sell or barter their supplies or goods, including oil, to the amount of two hundred dollars, ad valorem, for each vessel, without paying any tonnage or harbor dues, or any duties or imposts upon the articles so sold or bartered. They shall be also permitted, with like exemption from tonnage and harbor dues, further to sell or barter their supplies or goods, including oil, to the additional amount of one thousand dollars, ad valorem, for each vessel, upon paying for the said additional articles the same duties as are payable upon like supplies, or goods and oil, when imported in the vessels and by the citizens or subjects of the most favored nation.

ARTICLE XIII.

The merchants, commanders, or masters of vessels, and others, citizens of either contracting party, shall be wholly free to manage their own business and affairs, in all the ports and places within the jurisdiction of the other, and to commit their business and affairs to the management of any person whom they may choose to appoint, as agent, factor, consignee, or interpreter. They shall not be restrained in the choice of persons to act in such capacities, or be compelled to pay any salary or remuneration to any one whom they do not wish to employ. Absolute freedom shall be given, as well with respect to the consignment and sale of their merchandise and articles of commerce, as to the purchase of their returns, unloading, loading, and sending off their vessels. The buyer and seller shall have full liberty to bargain together and fix the price of any merchandise or article of commerce, imported into or to be exported from the territories of either contracting party, the regulations of commerce established in the respective countries being in every case duly observed.

ARTICLE XIV.

Peruvian citizens shall enjoy the same privileges in frequenting the mines and in digging or working for gold upon the public lands situated in the State of California, as are, or may be hereafter, accorded by the United States of America to the citizens or subjects of the most favored nation.

ARTICLE XV.

The citizens of either of the high contracting parties shall have the full power and liberty to dispose of their personal property and effects of every kind and description, within the jurisdiction of the other, by sale, donation, testament, or otherwise, and their heirs or legal representatives, being citizens of the other party, shall succeed to their said personal property and effects whether by testament or ab intestato, and may take possession of the same themselves or by others acting for them, and dispose of the same at their pleasure, paying such dues only as the inhabitants of the country where the said effects may be shall be subject to pay in like cases. Should the property consist of real estate, and the heirs, on account of their character as aliens, be prevented from entering into possession of the inheritance, they shall be allowed the term of three years to dispose of the same and withdraw and export the proceeds, which they may do without any hindrance, and without paying any other duties or charges than those which are established by the laws of the country.

ARTICLE XVI.

If any vessel belonging to the citizens of either of the high contracting parties should be wrecked, suffer from any accident, or be left derelict on or near the coasts within the territories of the other, all assistance and protection shall be given to such vessel and her crew, and the vessel, or any part thereof, and all furniture and appurtenances belonging thereto, together with all the merchandise which shall be saved therefrom, or the produce thereof, if sold, shall be faithfully restored to the owners or their agents, they paying only the expenses incurred in the preservation of the property, together with the rate of salvage which would have been payable, in the like case, by national vessels; and it shall be permitted for them to land the merchandise and effects on board, with the proper precautions to prevent their illicit introduction, without exacting in such case any duty, impost, or contribution whatever, provided the same be exported.

ARTICLE XVII.

When through stress of weather, want of water or provisions, pursuit of enemies or pirates, the vessels of one of the high contracting parties, whether of war (public or private) or of trade, or employed in fishing, shall be forced to seek shelter in the ports, rivers, bays and dominions of the other, they shall be received and treated with humanity, sufficient time shall be allowed for the completion of repairs; and while any vessel may [illegible]

ARTICLE XXI.

ARTICLE XXII.

When the neutral flag of one of the contracting parties shall protect the property of the enemies of the other, by virtue of the preceding article, it shall always be understood that the neutral property found on board of enemies' vessels shall be held and considered as enemy's property, and shall be subject to detention and confiscation, unless it shall have been put on board before the declaration of war, or even afterwards, if it were done without knowledge of such declaration; but the contracting parties agree that two months having elapsed after the declaration of war, their citizens shall not plead ignorance thereof. On the contrary, if the flag of the neutral does not protect the enemy's property which may be found on board, the goods or merchandise of the neutral embarked in enemies' ships shall be free.

ARTICLE XXIII.

The liberty of commerce and navigation stipulated for in the preceding articles shall extend to all kinds of merchandise, except the articles called contraband of war, under which name shall be comprehended:

1. Cannons, mortars, howitzers, swivels, blunderbusses, muskets, fusees, rifles, carbines, pistols, pikes, swords, sabres, lances, spears, halberds, bombs, grenades, powder, matches, balls, and all other things belonging to the use of these arms.
2. Bucklers, helmets, breastplates, coats of mail, accoutrements, and clothes made up in military form, and for military use.
3. Cavalry belts and horses, with their harness.
4. And generally all offensive or defensive arms made of iron, steel, brass, copper, or of any other material prepared and formed to make war by land or at sea.

ARTICLE XXIV.

All other merchandise and things not comprehended in the articles of contraband explicitly enumerated and classified as above shall be held and considered as free and subjects of free and lawful commerce, so that they may be carried and transported in the freest manner by both the contracting parties even to places belonging to an enemy, excepting only those places which are at that time besieged or blockaded; and to avoid all doubt in this particular, it is declared that those places only are to be considered as besieged or blockaded which are actually invested or attacked by a force capable of preventing the entry of the neutral.

ARTICLE XXV.

The articles of contraband, or those before enumerated and classified, which may be found in a vessel bound for an enemy's port shall be subject to detention and confiscation, but the rest of the cargo and the ship shall be left free, that the owners may dispose of them as they see proper. No vessel of either of the contracting parties shall be detained on the high seas on account of having on board articles of contraband, whenever the master, captain, or supercargo of said vessel will deliver up the articles of contraband to the captor, unless indeed the quantity of such articles be so great, or of so large bulk, that they cannot be received on board the capturing vessel without great inconvenience; but in this and all other cases of just detention, the vessel detained shall be sent to the nearest convenient and safe port, for trial and judgment according to law.

ARTICLE XXVI.

And whereas it frequently happens that vessels sail for a port or place belonging to an enemy without knowing that the same is besieged, blockaded, or invested, it is agreed that every vessel so circumstanced may be turned away from such port or place, but shall not be detained, nor shall any part of her cargo, if not contraband, be confiscated, unless, after having been warned of such blockade or investment by a commanding officer of a vessel forming part of the blockading forces, she again attempt to enter; but she shall be permitted to go to any other port or place the master or supercargo may think proper. Nor shall any vessel of either party that may have entered into such port or place before the same was actually besieged, blockaded, or invested by the other, be restrained from leaving it with her cargo, nor, if found therein before or after the reduction and surrender, shall such vessel or her cargo be liable to seizure, confiscation, or any demand on the score of redemption or restitution, but the owners thereof shall remain in the undisturbed possession of their property. And if any vessel having thus entered the port before the blockade took place shall take on board a cargo after the blockade be established, and attempt to depart, she may be warned by the blockading forces to return to the blockaded port and discharge the said cargo, and if, after receiving such warning, the vessel shall persist in going out with the cargo, she shall be liable to the same consequences as in the case of a vessel attempting to enter a blockaded port after having been warned off by the blockading forces.

ARTICLE XXVII.

To prevent disorder and irregularity in visiting and examining the vessels and cargoes of both the contracting parties on the high seas, they have agreed mutually that whenever a vessel of war, public or private, shall meet with a neutral of the other party, the former shall remain at the greatest distance compatible with the possibility and safety of making the visit, under the circumstances of the wind and sea and the degree of suspicion attending the vessel to be visited, and shall send one of her small boats with no more men than may be necessary to execute the said examination of the papers concerning the ownership and cargo of the vessel, without causing the least extortion, violence, or ill treatment, in respect of which the commanders of said armed vessels shall be responsible with their persons and property; for which purpose the commanders of said private armed vessels shall, before receiving their commissions, give sufficient security to answer for all the injuries and damages they may commit. And it is expressly agreed that the neutral party shall in no case be required to go on board of the examining vessel for the purpose of exhibiting the ship's papers, nor for any other purpose whatever.

ARTICLE XXVIII.

Both contracting parties likewise agree that when one [illegible]

ARTICLE XXXIV.

The high contracting parties, desiring to avoid all inequality in their public communications and official intercourse, agree to grant to their envoys, ministers, chargés d'affaires, and other diplomatic agents, the same favors, privileges, immunities, and exemptions, that those of the most favored nation do or shall enjoy; it being understood, that the favors, privileges, immunities, and exemptions granted by the one party to the envoys, ministers, chargés d'affaires, or other diplomatic agents of the other party, or to those of any other nation, shall be reciprocally granted and extended to those of both the high contracting parties respectively.

ARTICLE XXXV.

To protect more effectually the commerce and navigation of their respective citizens, the United States of America and the Republic of Peru agree to admit and receive, mutually, consuls and vice-consuls in all their ports open to foreign commerce, who shall enjoy, within their respective consular districts, all the rights, prerogatives, and immunities of the consuls and vice-consuls of the most favored nation; but to enjoy the rights, prerogatives, and immunities which belong to them, in virtue of their public character, the consuls and vice-consuls shall, before exercising their official functions, exhibit to the government [illegible] official characters, by the authorities, magistrates, and inhabitants of the district in which they reside. The high contracting parties, nevertheless, remain at liberty to except those ports and places where the admission and residence of consuls or vice consuls may not seem convenient, provided that the refusal to admit them shall likewise extend to those of all nations.

ARTICLE XXXVI.

The consuls, vice-consuls, their officers, and persons employed in their consulates, shall be exempt from all public service and from all kinds of taxes, imposts, and contributions, except those which they shall lawfully be held to pay on account of their property or commerce, and to which the citizens and other inhabitants of the country in which they reside are subject, they being, in other respects, subject to the laws of the respective countries. The archives and papers of the consulates shall be inviolably respected, and no person, magistrate, or other public authority shall, under any pretext, interfere with, or seize them.

ARTICLE XXXVII.

The consuls and vice consuls shall have power to require the assistance of the public authorities of the country in which they reside for the arrest, detention, and custody of deserters from the vessels of war or merchant vessels of their nation, and when the deserters claimed shall belong to a merchant vessel, the consuls or vice-consuls must address themselves to the competent authority, and demand the deserters in writing, proving, by the ship's roll or other public document, that the individuals claimed are a part of the crew of the vessel from which it is alleged that they have deserted; but should the individuals claimed form a part of the crew of a vessel of war, the word of honor of a commissioned officer attached to the said vessel shall be sufficient to identify the deserters; and when the demand of the consul or vice consul is in all of the above cases so proved, the delivery of the deserters shall not be refused. The said deserters, when arrested, shall be delivered to the consuls or vice consuls, or, at their request, be put in the public prisons and maintained at the expense of those who reclaim them, to be delivered to the vessels to which they belong, or to others of the same nation; but if the said deserters should not be so delivered or sent within the term of two months, to be counted from the day of their arrest, they shall be set at liberty, and shall not be again apprehended for the same cause. The high contracting parties agree that it shall not be lawful for any public authority, or other person within their respective dominions, to harbor or protect such deserters.

ARTICLE XXXVIII.

For the purpose of more effectually protecting their commerce and navigation, the two contracting parties do hereby agree to form, as soon hereafter as may be mutually convenient, a consular convention, which shall declare specially the powers and immunities of the consuls and vice consuls of the respective parties.

ARTICLE XXXIX.

Until the conclusion of a consular convention, the high contracting parties agree that, in the absence of the legal heirs or representatives, the consuls or vice consuls of either party shall be ex officio the executors or administrators of the citizens of their nation who may die within their consular jurisdictions, and of their countrymen dying at sea whose property may be brought within their district. The said consuls or vice consuls shall call in a justice of the peace, or other local authority, to assist in taking an inventory of the effects and property left by the deceased; after which, the said effects shall remain in the hands of the said consuls or vice consuls, who shall be authorized to sell immediately such of the effects or property as may be of a perishable nature, and to dispose of the remainder according to the instructions of their respective governments. And where the deceased has been engaged in commerce or other business, the consuls or vice consuls shall hold the effects and property so remaining until the expiration of twelve calendar months, during which time the creditors, if any, of the deceased, shall have the right to present their claims or demands against the said effects and property; and all questions arising out of such claims or demands shall be decided by the laws of the country wherein the said citizens may have died. It is understood, nevertheless, that if no claim or demand shall have been made against the effects and property of an individual so deceased, the consuls or vice consuls, at the expiration of the twelve calendar months, may close the estate and dispose of the effects and property in accordance with the instructions from their own governments.

Extensive Robbery.

The heaviest robbery that has occurred in this city for many years, was perpetrated Tuesday evening, on board the steamer Editor, lying at the wharf, on her way from Pittsburgh to St. Louis. Whilst the passengers were at supper, about 5 o'clock, the state room of Mr. Robert Butcher was pried open with a chisel—the burglars forcing open the outside door—and $5321 abstracted from a valise in the room. Mr. Butcher was formerly a resident of Cambria county, Pennsylvania, near Johnstown, and was on his way to the West to seek a new home, accompanied by his wife and children. The money was all he possessed in the world, and the shock of the loss was so great upon his wife that it was found necessary to use force to prevent her throwing herself into the river.—*Cincinnati Gaz. Correspondence.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier.

To show the great difference in the weather of the present December, compared with the December of some other years, I send you a copy of a protest made in December, 1831, by Isaac Chadrick, master of the schooner Jane of Bangor, and Samuel Snow, mariner as follows:

"That said vessel sailed from Boston on the 28th of December for Bangor, laden with an assorted cargo of merchandize for many persons in said Bangor, and on the next day, between three and four o'clock, P. M., when off Cape Elizabeth, took a heavy gale of wind, accompanied with snow from the N N West, lost our foretopsail, fore and main topmast, fore yard and topsail yard, fore gaft, and foresail, split our mainsail and main gib. The gale continued through the night, and the two next days. In the meantime cut away the forehalyards, braces, clewlines, topsail-sheets, together with the wreck of the foregaft. The vessel now a hull and was driven out to sea. Repairing the mainsail after the gale, we gained the coast and judged ourselves near Seguin Island. On the 4th of December took a heavy snowstorm from the N N West and was obliged to scud the vessel out of the South Channel and to lighten the vessel to preserve her I threw overboard one hogshead of molasses, one hogshead of dry fish, several barrels of pork, &c.

On the 6th carried away our spring stay and sprung our mainmast. The current now setting [illegible] and we finally came to anchor on George's Bank, which we held about 32 hours. The wind still blowing heavily from the W. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] about 24 hours, then turned and stood to the Northward. On the 11th, lost our main boom, and on the 13th, made Grand Menan Island, being loaded with ice, came to an anchor near the Southeast part of the island, about 4 o'clock, P. M. At about 4 o'clock P. M., next day, broke one anchor, the wind blowing N. N. East, and a thick snow storm, made all the sail we could and stood to the Westward. Next morning took the wind S S West, stood to the N N West, and at nine o'clock A. M., on the 16th inst., made the Hills on Mount Desert, still blowing very heavy and the vessel being loaded with ice, bore away for the leeward land, and came to anchor in Steele's harbor in Moosepecca Reach.

On the night of the 17th dragged one anchor in near the shore, and on the 18th at half-past 10 o'clock A. M., the vessel was driven on shore and lay nearly on her beam ends.

With the assistance of the people on the shore, we got out some of the dry goods, and at 5 o'clock, cut away the masts, and the vessel righted, found her keel partly gone, rudder unhung, and cargo considerably damaged.

At the next tide got her off, and the next day with the assistance of the people on the shore, towed her into Mistake harbor where she now lies."

Gen. Cass' Eulogy on Mr. Webster.

Mr. President: HOW ARE THE MIGHTY FALLEN, was the pathetic lamentation, when the leaders of Israel were struck down in the midst of their services and their renown. Well may we repeat that national wail, HOW ARE THE MIGHTY FALLEN, when the impressive dispensations of Providence have so recently carried mourning to the hearts of the American people, by summoning from life to death three of their eminent citizens, who, for almost half a century, had taken part, and prominently too, in all the great questions, as well of peace as war, which agitated and divided their country. Full indeed they were of days and of honors, for

> "The hand of the reaper > Took the ears that were hoary;"

but never brighter in intellect, purer in patriotism, nor more powerful in influence, than when the grave closed upon their labors, leaving their memory and their career at once an incentive and an example for their countrymen, in that long course of trial, but I trust, of freedom and prosperity also, which is open before us. Often divided in life but only by honest convictions of duty, followed in a spirit of generous emulation, and not of personal opposition, they are now united in death, and we may appropriately adopt, upon this striking occasion, the beautiful language addressed to the people of England by one of her most gifted sons, when they were called to mourn, as we are now called, a bereavement which spread sorrow, dismay almost, through the nation, and under circumstances of difficulty and danger, far greater than any we can now reasonably anticipate in the progress of our history.

> "Seek not for those a separate doom,
> Whom fate brothered in the tomb;
> But search the land of living men,
> Where shall we find their like again?"

And to-day, in the consideration of the Message of the Chief Magistrate, it becomes us to respond to his annunciation, commending itself, as it does, to the universal sentiment of the country, of the death of the last of these lamented statesmen; as a national misfortune. This mark of regret and respect was due alike to the memory of the dead, and to the feelings of the living. And I have listened with deep emotion to the eloquent testimonials to the mental power and worth and services of the departed patriot, which to-day have been heard in this high place, and will be heard to-morrow, and commended, too, by the American people. The voice of party is hushed in the presence of such a national calamity, and the grave closes upon the asperity of political contests, when it closes upon those who have taken part in them. And well may we who have so often witnessed his labors and his triumphs—well may we here, upon this theatre of his services and his renown, recalling the efforts of his mighty understanding, and the admiration which always followed its exertion, well may we come with our tribute of acknowledgment to his high and diversified powers, and to the influence he exercised upon his auditory, and in fact upon his country. He was, indeed, one of those remarkable men, who stand prominently forward on the canvas of history, impressing their characteristics upon the age in which they live, and almost making it their own, by the force of their genius and the splendor of their fame.

The time which elapsed between the middle of the eighteenth century and our own day, was prolific of great events and of distinguished men, who guided, or were guided by them, far beyond any other equal period in the history of human society. But, in my opinion, even this favored epoch has produced no man, possessing a more massive and gigantic intellect, or who exhibited more profound powers of investigation in the great department of political science, to which he devoted himself in all its various ramifications than Daniel Webster.—The structure of his mind seemed peculiarly adapted to the work he was called upon to do, and he did it, as no other man of his country, of his age indeed, could have done it. And his name and his fame are indissolubly connected with some of the most difficult and important questions, which our peculiar institutions have called into discussion. It was my good fortune to hear him, upon one of the most memorable of these occasions, when in this very hall, filled to overflowing with an audience whose rapt attention indicated his power and their expectations, he entered into an analysis of the constitution and of the great principles of our political organization, with a vigor of argument, a force of illustration and a felicity of diction which have rendered this effort of his mind one of the proudest monuments of American genius, and one of the noblest expositions, which the operations of our government have called forth. I speak of its general effect, without concurring in all the views he presented, though the points of difference neither impair my estimate of the speaker, nor of the power he displayed in this elaborate debate.

The judgment of his cotemporaries upon the character of his eloquence will be confirmed by the future historian. He grasped the question involved in the subject before him, with a rare union of force and discrimination, and he presented them in an order of arrangement, marked at once with great perspicuity and with local acuteness, so that when he arrived at his conclusion, he seemed to reach it by a process of established propositions, interwoven with the hand of a master. And topics, barren of attraction from their nature, were rendered interesting by illustrations and allusions, drawn from a vast storehouse of knowledge, and applied with a chastened taste, formed upon the best models of ancient and of modern learning.—And to these eminent qualifications was added an uninterrupted flow of rich and often racy, old fashioned English, worthy of the earlier masters of the language, whom he studied and admired.

As a statesman and politician his power was felt and acknowledged through the Republic, and all bore willing testimony to his enlarged views, and to his ardent patriotism. And he acquired a European reputation by the state papers he prepared upon various questions of our foreign policy, and one of these, his refutation and exposure of an absurd and arrogant pretension of Austria, is distinguished by lofty and generous sentiments, becoming the age in which he lived, and the great people in whose name he spoke, and it is stamped with a vigor and research not less honorable to the exhibition than conclusive in the application. And it will ever take rank in the history of diplomatic intercourse, among the richest contributions [illegible] the pub[illegible] law of the world. [illegible] [illegible] internal troubles, he was true, and tried, and faithful; and in the latest, may it be the last, as it was the most perilous crisis of our country, rejecting all sectional considerations, and exposing himself to sectional denunciations, he stood up boldly, proudly indeed, and with consummate ability, for the constitutional rights of another portion of the Union, fiercely assailed by a spirit of aggression, as incompatible with our mutual obligations as with the duration of the confederation itself. In that dark and doubtful hour, his voice was heard above the storm, recalling his countrymen to a sense of their danger and their duties, and tempering the lessons of reproof with the experience of age, and the dictates of patriotism. He who heard this memorable appeal to the public reason and conscience, made in this crowded chamber, with all eyes fixed upon the speaker, and almost all hearts swayed by his words of wisdom and of power, will sedulously guard its recollection as one of those precious incidents which, while they constitute the poetry of history, exert a permanent and decisive influence upon the destiny of nations.

And our deceased colleague added the kindlier affections of the heart to the lofty endowments of the mind, and I recal, with almost painful sensibility, the associations of our boyhood, when we were school-fellows together, with all the troubles and pleasures which belong to that relation in life in its narrow world of preparation. He rendered himself dear by his disposition and deportment, and exhibited some of those peculiar characteristic features which, later in life, made him the ornament to the social circle, and when study and knowledge of the world had ripened his faculties, endowed him with powers of conversation I have not found surpassed in my intercourse with society, at home or abroad. His conduct and bearing at that early period, have left an enduring impression upon my memory of mental traits, which his subsequent course in life developed and confirmed, and the commanding position and ascendancy of the man were foreshadowed by the standing and influence of the boy, among the comrades who surrounded him. Fifty-five years ago we parted—he to prepare for his splendid career in the good old land of our ancestors, and I to encounter the harsh toils and trials of life in the great forest of the west.

But ere long the report of his words and his deeds penetrated those recesses where human industry was painfully but successfully contending with the obstacles of nature, and I found that my early companion was assuming a position which confirmed my previous anticipations, and which could only be attained by the rare faculties with which he was gifted. Since then he has gone on, irradiating his path with the splendor of his exertions, till the whole hemisphere was bright with his glory; and never brighter than when he went down in the West without a cloud to obscure his lustre, clear, calm and glorious. Fortunate in life, he was not less fortunate in death, for he died with his fame undiminished, his faculties unbroken, and his usefulness unimpaired, surrounded by weeping friends, and regarded with anxious solicitude by a grateful country, to whom the messenger that mocks at time and space told, from hour to hour, the progress of his disorder and the approach of his fate. And beyond all this, and better than all this, he died in the faith of a Christian, humble but hopeful, adding another to the roll of eminent men, who have searched the gospel of Jesus, and found it the word and will of God, given to direct us while here, and to sustain us in that hour of trial when the things of this world are passing away, and the dark valley and shadow of death is opening before us.

HOW ARE THE MIGHTY FALLEN, we may yet exclaim, when reft of our greatest and wisest; but they fall to rise again, from death to life, when such quickening faith in the mercy of God and in the sacrifice of the Redeemer, come to shed upon them its happy influence on this side of the grave and beyond it.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.

IN THE SENATE.

Mr. Atchison again took the Chair, at the written request of the Hon. W. R. King.

The Chair laid before the Senate a report of the Secretary of War on the classification of clerks in that department.

After certain petitions, &c., were presented, Mr. Mason reported a bill to amend the proviso in the act making appropriations for continuing the Mexican boundary commission,—the proviso having arrested the operations of the commission.

The bill carries out the suggestions of the Secretary of the Interior, and makes appropriations for completing the survey of the Gila and the Rio Grande below El Paso, and to pay the expenses already incurred in the said survey. The bill was taken up, considered, read a third time, and passed.

Mr. Broadhead introduced a bill changing the Bounty Land law, so as to give all engaged in the last war 160 acres of land.

The Kentucky contested election case was taken up, when Mr. Underwood concluded the speech which he commenced on Monday last.

Mr. Tracy followed, contending that Mr. Merriwether, having been duly appointed to fill a vacancy actually existing, his appointment, according to the plain terms of the constitution, extended to the next meeting of the Legislature of Kentucky.

The subject was postponed, and the Senate went into executive session, and soon after adjourned.

IN THE HOUSE.

A message was received from the Senate, communicating the proceedings of that body on the occasion of the announcement of the death of Mr. Webster.

Mr. Davis pronounced a glowing eulogy on the character of the deceased, concluding with a resolution as follows:

That this House concurs with the Senate in its expression of grief for the death, and respect for the memory of Daniel Webster, and the estimation of the services which he has rendered to the country; that the members of the House will wear crape on the left arm for the space of thirty days, and that the Speaker cause these proceedings to be communicated to the family of the deceased, and that the House now adjourn.

Mr. Appleton of Maine, also eulogised the deceased.

Messrs. Seymour of New York and Chandler of Pennsylvania, Bayley, Stanley, and Taylor, also spoke. The resolutions were adopted, and the House adjourned.

TRAVELLER'S BISCUIT. Two pounds of flour, three-quarters of a pound of sugar, a quarter of a pound of butter, one teaspoonful of dissolved saleratus, milk sufficient to form a dough. Cut up the butter in the flour, add the sugar, and put in the saleratus and milk together, so as to form a dough. Knead it till it becomes perfectly smooth and light. Roll it in sheets about the eighth of an inch thick, cut the cakes with a cutter or the top of a tumbler. Bake it in a moderate oven.

It is not so great a matter to live lovingly with good natured, with humble and meek persons; but he that can do so with the immortal, with the wilful and ignorant, with the peevish and perverse, he only hath true charity, remembering that solid, true peace of God, consists in being so occupied with; in suffering and forbearance, rather than in contention.

A VERY FAST BOY.—We saw yesterday in Chapel street, a youngster of some four years experience at this life, who was earnestly puffing a cigar, and aiding and abetting in the sporting pastime of a dog-fight. An older boy was admonishing him at the same time of the licking in store for him at home, the holding [illegible] tail in the case.—[illegible]

EVERY FAMILY should at once procure a bottle of the great Arabian remedy for man and beast, called H. G. FARRELL'S ARABIAN LINIMENT. It allays the most intense pains in a few minutes, restores the synovial fluid or joint water, and thus cures stiff joints; it penetrates the flesh to the bone, relaxes contracted cords, cures rheumatism and palsied limbs of twenty years standing, also tumors, swelled necks, enlargement of the glands, and is the best medicine for ailments of cattle ever discovered, curing sweeny, spavin, splint, and all diseases which require an external application.

Sun Pain of 10 years' standing cured by H. G. Farrell's Arabian Liniment.

Mr. H. G. Farrell—Dear Sir: I had been afflicted with the "Sun Pain" for the last ten years, and could never get relief except by bleeding, but by the use of H. G. Farrell's Arabian Liniment, applied over the temples about three or four times a day, it was entirely removed, and I have felt nothing of it since. I went into the stable one night, to apply it to a horse's sore leg, and being very lame he stumbled and fell against my legs, crushing and bruising them so badly that they turned black as my hat, rendering them powerless. I applied your Liniment, and was well enough in a few days to go about again as usual. I also crushed my finger in a shocking manner, by letting a board fall upon it, your Liniment soon healed it up, though

JOHN B. M'GEE.

La Salle precinct, Peoria co, Ill., Feb. 6, 1849.

[Esq. Barker, of New Canton, Ill., says.]

Mr. H. G. Farrell's Arabian Liniment has cured some bad cases here, which every other remedy had failed in, one was a white swelling and contracted cords in the leg of a boy twelve years old. The leg had withered away, and was so contracted that he had no use of it. Three doctors had tried their skill upon it in vain, and he was fast sinking to the grave, when the boy's father was induced to try H. G. Farrell's Arabian Liniment. Before the first bottle was used up he came in Mr. B's store, and the first words he said were, "Mr. Barker, I want all that Liniment you have in the store, the one bottle I got did my boy more good than all that had ever been done before." That boy is now well and hearty, and has free use of his legs. It is good for sprains, bruises, cuts, burns, and swellings.

LOOK OUT FOR COUNTERFEITS.

The public are cautioned against another counterfeit, which has lately made its appearance, called W. B. Farrell's Arabian Liniment, the most dangerous of all the counterfeits, because his having the name of Farrell many will buy it in good faith, without the knowledge that a counterfeit exists, and they will perhaps only discover their error when the spurious mixture has wrought its evil effects.

The genuine article is manufactured only by H. G. Farrell, sole inventor and proprietor, and wholesale druggist, No. 17 Main Street, Peoria, Illinois, to whom all applications for Agencies must be addressed. Be sure you get it with the letters H. G. before Farrell's, thus—H. G. FARRELL'S—and his signature on the wrappers, all others are counterfeits.

Sold by INGRAHAM & BULLER, wholesale and retail, Bangor. Also by R. F. Kinsell, Oldtown. French & Hamilton, Dexter. Geo. Farcher, Ellsworth. P. O. Flaherty, Houlton. And by regularly authorized agents throughout the United States.

Price 25 and 50 cents, and $1 per bottle.

AGENTS WANTED in every town, village and hamlet in the United States, in which one is not already established. Address H. G. Farrell as above, accompanied with good reference as to character, responsibility, &c.

The Celebrated Indian Doctor, JOS. SAUKABASIN,

HAVING obtained himself of the medical knowledge of the tribes who composed the original inhabitants of this country and having by upwards of twenty years experience gained a knowledge of the most perfect combination of the vegetable substances which are the growth and natural remedy for the diseases of the climate, offers his services in all disorders. He has in his possession a great number of certificates, testifying to the wonderfully beneficial and often sudden effects of his medicines. From a very large number of certificates he selects the following:

Brewer, July 8, 1848.

To whom it may concern:—This will certify that I had a very severe attack of the Rheumatism in my hip. I tried various means to cure it, but it grew worse and worse for about three months, when I applied to Dr. JOSEPH SAUKABASIN, one of the Penobscot tribe of Indians, who cured me entirely, and in a very short time, and I have never been troubled with it since. And I feel it due to him to the community to recommend him as a safe and skillful physician. BENJAMIN SNOW.

This will certify that I was afflicted for over thirty years with a Scrofulous humor in my leg, and I applied to four or five physicians, and got no relief until I fell in with JOSEPH SAUKABASIN, and he gave me one bottle of medicine, and cured me so it has troubled me none since, and is healed perfectly sound. My daughter Hannah was afflicted with a Cough, and Spitting of Blood, and by taking his medicine was cured. SYLVANUS COOMBS.

Hampden, August 15, 1842.

Holden, Dec. 3, 1852.

Mr. Dr. Jos. Saukabasin—Dear Sir: I feel it my duty to give you my best thanks for curing my wife of a disease of long standing—a dropsical complaint—and I believe if it had not been for your medicine she now would have been in her grave. ANDREW L. PINKHAM.

December 7th, 1852.—I feel perfectly satisfied that Dr. Joseph Saucabasin has cured my boy of a fever sore, when all other doctors gave him up. NATHAN DYER.

He has located himself in Brewer, above the Toll Bridge, where he may be consulted by mail or otherwise, and will be frequently in Bangor.

PATENTS.
American and Foreign Office

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
WITH U. S. PATENT OFFICE,
WASHINGTON.
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IN 1840 the subscriber was appointed by the Commissioner of Patents Agent of the U S Patent Office, in accordance with the 10th Sec. of Act of '37.

Having relinquished the Agency for the transmission of Models, and adopted a more expeditious mode of sending them to the Patent Office, whereby a Patent may be procured about six weeks earlier the continues to forward them free of expense—to prepare Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all the necessary Papers and Drawings for Patents; and to render advice on legal and scientific matters respecting the same. Patents secured in Europe and other countries.

By application at this office, inventors are saved the time and expense of a journey to Washington and delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. They also have the advantage of verbally explaining their inventions, and of consulting in respect to them, matters in general of [illegible] importance in order to obtain correct specifications and claims. The experience of sixteen years practice, an extensive collection of [illegible] works, decisions, &c. on mechanical subjects, the Patent Laws, and patents of different countries, collected at much expense during the long time this office has been established, together with accounts here kept of inventions patented at Washington, enable the subscriber to afford [illegible] [illegible] of procuring Patents, assistance and information which in other respects might be difficult of attainment.

R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.

WASHINGTON, JULY 21, 1849.—During the time I occupied the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. EDDY, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office as Solicitor for procuring Patents. There were few, if any, persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring Inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

ANOTHER SCIENTIFIC WONDER!
GREAT CURE FOR DYSPEPSIA!
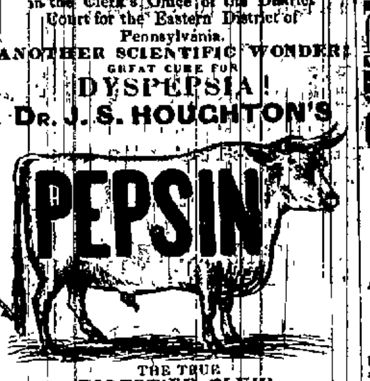
Dr. J. S. HOUGHTON'S



THE TRUE
DIGESTIVE FLUID, OR GASTRIC FLUID.

Prepared from RENNET, or the fourth STOMACH OF THE OX, after directions of BARON LIEBIG, the great Physiological Chemist, by J. S. HOUGHTON, M D., Philadelphia, Pa.

"I DIGEST." Such is the true meaning of word PEPSIN. It is the chief element, or Great Digesting Principle of the Gastric Juice—the solvent of the Food, the Purifying, Preserving, and Stimulating Agent of the Stomach and Intestines. It is extracted from the Digestive Stomach of the Ox, thus forming a TRUE DIGESTIVE FLUID, precisely like the natural Gastric Juice in its Chemical powers, and furnishing a complete and perfect substitute for it.

This is NATURE'S OWN REMEDY for an unhealthy Stomach. No art of man can equal its curative powers. It contains no ALCOHOL, BITTERS, ACIDS or NAUSEOUS DRUGS. It is extremely agreeable to the taste, and may be taken by the most feeble patients who cannot eat a water cracker without acute distress. Beware of DRUGGED IMITATIONS. Pepsin is NOT A DRUG.

Half a teaspoonful of Pepsin, Infused in water, will digest or dissolve Five Pounds of Roast Beef in about [illegible] hours, out of the Stomach.

SCIENTIFIC EVIDENCE

☞ The Scientific Evidence upon which this remedy is based is in the highest degree Curious and Remarkable.

Call on the Agent and get a Descriptive Circular, gratis, giving a large amount of Scientific Evidence, from Liebig's Animal Chemistry, Dr. Combe's Physiology of Digestion, Dr. Pereira on Food and Diet; Dr John W. AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL
For the Cure of
COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING-COUGH, CROUP, ASTHMA, AND CONSUMPTION.
AND FOR THE RELIEF OF PATIENTS IN ADVANCED STAGES OF CONSUMPTION.

Many years of trial, instead of impairing the public confidence in this medicine has won for it an appreciation and notoriety by far exceeding the most sanguine expectations of its friends. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues and the unmistakable benefit conferred on thousands of sufferers, could originate and maintain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community, have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

While it is a fraud upon the public to pretend that any one medicine will infallibly cure—still there is abundant proof that the Cherry Pectoral does not only as a general thing, but almost invariably, cure the maladies for which it is employed.

As time makes these facts wider and better known, this medicine has gradually become the best reliance of the afflicted, from the log cabin of the American peasant, to the palaces of European Kings. Throughout this entire country, in every State, city, and indeed almost every hamlet it contains, Cherry Pectoral is known as the best remedy extant for diseases of the Throat and Lungs—and in many foreign countries it is coming to be extensively used by their most intelligent Physicians. In Great Britain, France and Germany, where the medical sciences have reached their highest perfection, Cherry Pectoral is introduced, and in constant use in the Armies, Hospitals, Alms Houses, Public Institutions and in domestic practice, as the surest remedy their attending Physicians can employ for the more dangerous affections of lungs. Also in milder cases and for children it is safe, pleasant, and effectual to cure. In fact, some of the most flattering testimonials we receive have been from parents who have found it efficacious in cases particularly incidental to childhood.

The Cherry Pectoral is manufactured by a practical Chemist, and every ounce of it under his own eye, with invariable accuracy and care. It is sealed and protected by law from counterfeits, consequently can be relied on as genuine without adulteration.

We have endeavoured here to furnish the community with a medicine of such intrinsic superiority and worth as should commend itself to their confidence—a remedy at once safe, speedy and effectual, which this has by repeated and countless trials proved itself to be, and trust by great care in preparing it with chemical accuracy, of uniform strength to afford Physicians a new agent on which they can rely for the best results and the afflicted with a remedy that will do for them all that medicine can do.

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR Coughs, Colds and Consumptions.

THE VEGETABLE PULMONARY BALSAM FOR COUGHS COLDS CONSUMPTIONS

The VEGETABLE PULMONARY BALSAM is probably without a parallel in having, during a period of more than Twenty-five years, fully maintained the high reputation which it has acquired for CONSUMPTIVE COMPLAINTS and all DISEASES of the LUNGS, THROAT and CHEST. It has been used with probably greater success than any other article known, and Physicians who have had an opportunity of witnessing its highly salutary effects, recommend it as a safe and very efficacious medicine, equal if not superior to any other prescription for the above complaints within their knowledge. The basis of this Medicine was a private recipe of a distinguished Physician in one of the neighboring States, and was prescribed by an individual to whom it gave the most astonishing relief. It is composed of Vegetables, and if used according to directions, must be perfectly safe.

From Messrs. Allen & Co, Merchants, Cincinnati—[illegible] persons who have used the Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam, uniformly speak of it as a valuable medicine; and from the quantity sold, notwithstanding the numerous other preparations used for similar complaints, we consider it first on the list.

Respectfully, &c, ALLEN & CO.

The Editor of the Severn Falls Courier says—"We have had occasion to witness the good effect of the Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam in our family in case of a young lady who has been entirely cured of Consumption by the use of it, and also in severe coughs and colds, and cheerfully bear testimony to its being a safe, convenient [illegible]

DR. MORSE'S
INVIGORATING CORDIAL!

FOR GENITAL DEBILITY, IMPOTENCY, INCONTINANCE, OR NOCTURNAL EMISSIONS, &c. The astonishing success which has attended this invaluable medicine, for Loss of Muscular Energy, Physical Lassitude, and General Prostration, or any of the consequences of youthful indiscretion, or indulgence of the passion in riper years, renders it the most valuable preparation ever discovered. In fact as a remedy for the above complaints it stands unrivalled and alone. There is no other reliable remedy, or any that has authentically received the sanction of the Medical Faculty. The WONDERFUL VEGETABLE PRODUCTION of which this medicine is composed has been tested and its virtues proclaimed by the highest names of the faculty of London, Paris, and the chief cities of Europe as well as by eminent Physicians in this country. It is the only infallible remedy for NERVOUS, HEAD and MIND COMPLAINTS—the mental physic so long sought for and never before found, the only agent that can administer to MIND DISEASES. It will remove all nervous affections, DEPRESSION EXCITEMENT, incapacity to study or business, loss of MEMORY CONFUSION, thoughts of Self Destruction, fear of insanity, &c. It will restore the appetite, renew the health of those who have destroyed it by Sensual Excesses, or evil practices. It has been said by some that these disorders, emissions, &c., were incurable. This however is not the fact.

DR. MORSE'S INVIGORATING CORDIAL has, and is constantly curing these complaints—relieving the mental and bodily incapacity of the unfortunate sufferer as the following testimony of the names received will conclusively show.

Dr. Woodward of the Massachusetts Insane Hospital, writes of one of his patients being cured by using this cordial, thus:—"It gives me pleasure to inform you that one of my patients, while in Boston, procured some of your Cordial. He tells me that he has not had a single emission since he commenced taking it, while before he had two or three a week. When he applied to me, says Dr. W., "I thought it hardly possible for him ever to regain his full strength. I prescribed the usual medicine used in those cases in the hospital, but they had no effect. In the meantime he purchased some of your Cordial, which has affected a cure I am sure no other medicine would. I shall ever recommend whenever an opportunity occurs."

The nature of the maladies relieved by this Cordial are generally such as to leave the publication of certificates of course out of the question, and the proprietor could produce a host of the most conclusive testimony to show that the great reputation it enjoys was not accidentally obtained but is firmly based upon its positive and apparent virtues. In all directions are to be found the happy parents of healthy offsprings, who would not have been so but for this extraordinary preparation. And it is equally potent for many diseases for which it is recommended.

THE MEDICAL JOURNALS

have not in a single instance that has been authenticated, given their sanction to any other preparation for the above complaints. It has, in many violent and desperate cases, effected radical cures after patients had been abandoned, and their condition pronounced hopeless by medical practitioners of high professional character.

THE COMMON EXPRESSION

Of those who have used this Extract is—"I had heard your Cordial highly spoken of, but was one of the incredulous in regard to its merits, having tried various medicines sold for the same purpose, (different Sarsaparillas) without deriving any benefit. I had almost given up all hope of obtaining relief when I purchased some of your Cordial. I had no faith whatever of its benefiting me—but it has. I feel stronger, have had no emission since, although it is not three weeks. I am [illegible] the half a dozen bottles. I took will cure me."

Another says—"I had consulted several distinguished physicians. Some said I could not be cured, others prescribed this thing and that, but I found no relief until I procured some of your Cordial. I must say it completely cured me."

Another says—"I was surprised at the effect your Cordial had. Why had I not heard of it before? It would have saved me so much expense, besides years of mental and bodily suffering."

CAUTION.—Ask for Dr. Morse's Cordial and take no other, as there are worthless imitations which its unrivalled excellence have and plenty may, have brought into the market. It will not hurt the most delicate Female, but do good. Beware of all other Cordials, &c. Sold by only this.

Notice. Persons conscious of physical inability from causes above named may confidentially consult D. Morse, personally or by letter, (post paid) at his office 78 Sudbury street, Boston. The necessary advice and medicine for the speedy removal of such disability will be safely forwarded to the writer's address.

Dr. M. is prepared to warrant a perfect cure in every case or take no pay.

Prepared by M. Morse, M. D., New York city.

It is put up in pint bottles, with the words Dr. Morse's Invigorating Cordial, blown on the glass. Price $3 per bottle; 2 bottles $5; 6 bottles $12; and $24 per dozen.

N. B. Important advice accompanying each bottle.

BRANT'S INDIAN
PULMONARY BALSAM,
The Great COUGH REMEDY.

Many years of experience, and more than a Hundred Thousand Cures of Consumptive Complaints, have proved to the undoubted satisfaction of all persons who have become acquainted with this wonderful remedy, that it is greatly superior, because it is soothing and healing, and more certain to cure Consumption of the Lungs, than any other remedy in the world. We know, however that it is said by some that Consumption can not be cured. Be that the opinion of the many or the few, we shall not attempt to argue with such, but this we will say and do assert as a fact, which can be proved in thousands of cases, that this medicine has cured Coughs and diseases which, before the cures were effected, were called real Consumption, and which were attended with symptoms that resembled, and were in all respects like the symptoms of those who die, and when dead are said to have died with that fatal disease Consumption. This Balsam has cured thousands of persons who were said to be hopelessly afflicted—who had hard, dry, racking Coughs—Pains in the Breast, Side, and Back—Difficulty of Breathing—Purulent Expectoration—Hectic Fever—Night Sweats—and wasting away of the Flesh and Blood. Persons having such complaints have been cured after it was said they could not live a week longer. This Medicine has cured some who were supposed to be in a dying state, but, by the use of this remedy they now live, and enjoy good health.

This Balsam is purely a vegetable compound. It is pleasant to take, and never does injury in any stage of disease or under any circumstances. It effects its wonderful and almost miraculous Cures by Purifying, Strengthening, and Invigorating the whole system—by equalizing the circulation, and producing a healthy action—thus allaying Cough—soothing the Nerves—and aiding and facilitating Expectoration. It Cures the following diseases, viz:—

Consumption,

COUGHS and Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Spitting of Blood, Bleeding at the Lungs, Pains in the Breast, Side and Chest, Nervousness, Night Sweats, Palpitation of the Heart, and all FEMALE WEAKNESSES and Complaints arising therefrom, Cholera Infantum, &c.

THE ROAD TO HEALTH!
HOLLOWAY'S PILLS

CURE OF A DISORDERED LIVER AND BAD DIGESTION.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. R. W. Kirkus, Chemist, 7, Prescot Street, Liverpool, dated 6th June, 1851.

To Professor Holloway,

SIR—Your Pills and Ointment have stood the highest on our sale list of Proprietary Medicines for some years. A customer to whom I can refer for any enquiries, desires me to let you know the particulars of her case. She had been troubled for years with a disordered liver and bad digestion. On the last occasion, however, the virulence of the attack was so alarming, and the inflammation set in so severely, that doubts were entertained of her not being able to bear up under it; fortunately she was induced to try your Pills and she informs me that after the first, and each succeeding dose, she had great relief. She continued to take them, and although she used only three boxes, she is now in the enjoyment of perfect health. I could have sent you many more cases but the above from the severity of the attack, and the speedy cure, I think, speaks much in favor of your astonishing Pills.

(Signed) R. W. KIRKUS.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF RHEUMATIC FEVER IN VAN DIEMEN'S LAND.

Copy of a Letter inserted in the Hobart Town [illegible] of March [illegible], by Major J. Walch.

Margaret M'Connigan, nineteen years of age, residing at New Town, had been suffering from a violent rheumatic fever for upwards of two months, which had entirely deprived her of the use of her limbs; during this period she was under the care of the most eminent medical men in Hobart Town, and by them her case was considered hopeless—A friend prevailed upon her to try Holloway's celebrated Pills, which she consented to do, and in an incredible short space of time they effected a perfect cure.

CURE OF A PAIN AND TIGHTNESS IN THE CHEST AND STOMACH OF A PERSON [illegible] YEARS OF AGE.

From Messrs. Thew & Son, Proprietors of the Lynn Advertiser, who can vouch for the following statement—August 2d, 1851.

To Professor Holloway,

SIR—I desire to bear testimony to the good effects of Holloway's Pills. For some years I suffered severely from a pain and tightness in the stomach, which was also accompanied by a shortness of breath that prevented me from walking about. I am [illegible] years of age, and notwithstanding my advanced state of life these Pills have so relieved me that I am desirous that others should be made acquainted with their virtues. I am now rendered, by their means comparatively active, and can take exercise without inconvenience or pain which I could not do before.

(Signed) HENRY COE, North street, Lynn, Norfolk.

Lesage's Specific,

NEVER failing remedy for thoroughly eradicating disease of the Urinary Organs, such as Gonorrhea, Gleets, Weaknesses, Strictures, Stone in the Bladder, &c. and needs but to be once used to be universally esteemed. The proprietor would respectfully caution those troubled with the above annoying complaints to beware of the vile compounds which unprincipled individuals without the slightest knowledge of the structure of the human system recommend for every disease. Lesage's Specific is only intended for the cure of Private Diseases and the thousands that have sent their unsolicited certificates vouch for its efficacy, while the better it is known the greater is the demand for it. How different from the various quack medicines which, when the unhappy patient has once used, no inducement can ever make try again—Lesage's Specific has been the remedy depended on by every class, the senator, the lawyer, the mechanic, the seaman and the dashing exquisite have all tried it and found it truly the good Samaritan in the hour of trouble.

Dr. Darby annexes extracts from some of his certificates.
